FOREWORD

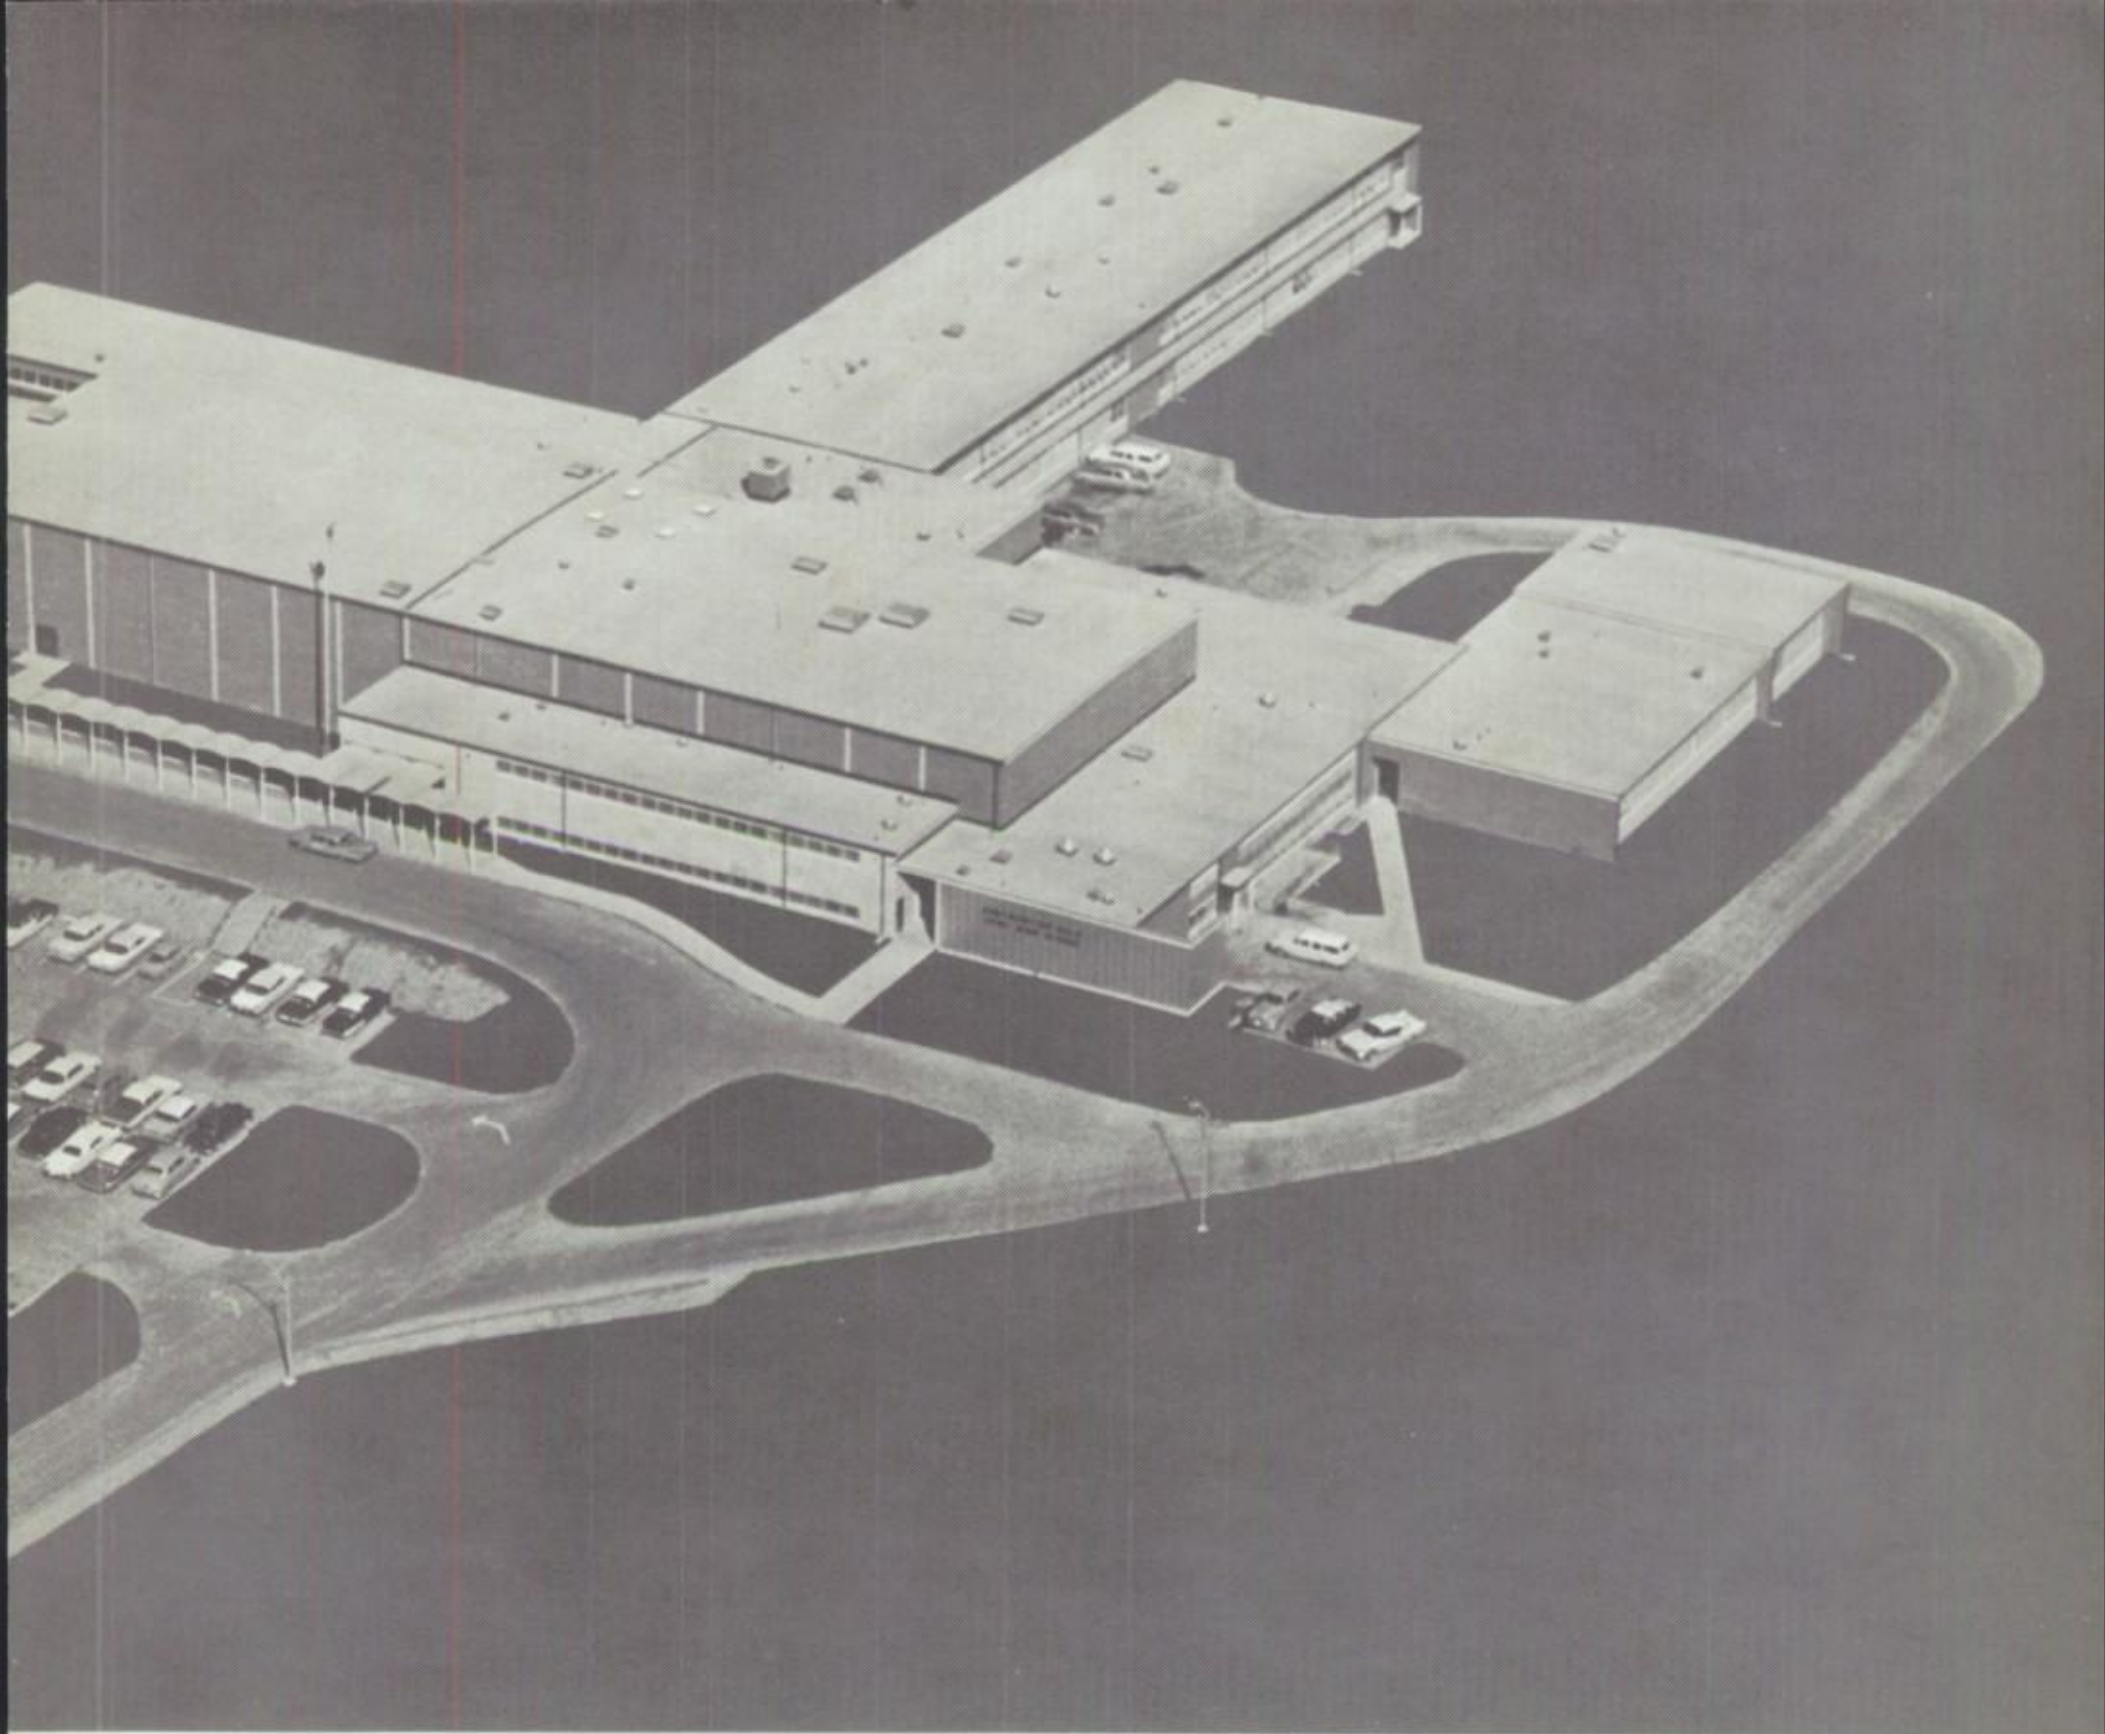

In 1950 the school directors, as well as the administrators of Northampton Area Joint High School, had a dream which, after much labor and many heartaches and headaches, culminated in 1960 with the completion of a new Northampton Area Joint Senior High School.

Although we, the Senior Class of 1961, are honored and extremely proud to be the first class to graduate from a new building containing many of the most modern educational facilities known, we believe that knowledge is the true way to success whether it be obtained in a school built in 1905 or in a school newly completed in 1960.

Therefore we decided to combine our motto "Knowledge is the Way to Success" with the concepts of many nations that the control of space is the way to success.

Thus, we have chosen as our theme "The New Approach" which is depicted by rocket ships, satellites, and space stations that will transport you through our 1961 Amptennian.

JOHN F. KENNEDY

The youngest man ever elected to the highest office of our nation is John F. Kennedy. With strenuous campaigning through areas such as our Lehigh Valley, President Kennedy made a two day visit to the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton locale. A mid-morning address at Center Square in Allentown attracted 75,000 persons. That evening he spoke to the Bethlehemites in Johnston Hall on the Moravian College Campus. Because this was one of the closest elections in history, and because the Presidential candidates were directly associated with area citizens, we give recognition to our new President of the United States, John F. Kennedy.

RICHARD M. NIXON

Richard M. Nixon, Vice President under the Eisenhower Administration, was the Republican candidate in the 1960 Presidential election. Mr. Nixon made a one day visit to the Allentown area, addressing 25,000 people at Muhlenberg College. 100,000 area citizens welcomed him on the caravan route which carried him through our own Lehigh Valley. Mr. Nixon was unsuccessful in his Presidential bid, he lost by the closest margin in more than a century. We also recognize Richard M. Nixon as a candidate who visited our area in 1960.

FACULTY POEM

We the pupils of the class
Of nineteen sixty-one
Wish to thank the teachers
For the work that they have done.

Thanking them for guiding us
Through all our daily tasks
And when in doubt they answered
All the questions that we asked.

The studying seemed to be in vain
As weeks and months rolled past
And when it seemed to never end
Graduation came at last.

Our knowledge will accompany us
In the years that come and go
Through all our share of ups and downs
We'll apply the things we know.

As we walk life's lonely paths
Our way will be more clear
If we remember what we've learned
These past and pleasant years.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Northampton Area Joint Committee, men with the knowledge and ability to guide our lives throughout our school years, is the nucleus of our administration. These are the men whose foresight has brought about the construction of our new Northampton Area Joint Senior High School. We hope the knowledge they have gained in the past will guide them to serve us well in the future.

May we say "thank you" for the job well done by the Northampton Area Joint School Committee.

DR. EICHLER

It was largely through the efforts of Dr. Eichler that this new high school was constructed. This building shall long stand in tribute to one of the finest men of our community. His able leadership in school administration is certain to be remembered by all.

GOLDEN DEEDS AWARD

The tenth annual Golden Deeds Award is presented to Howard G. Raubenhold for his outstanding performances on the School Board, in the Exchange Club, in the American Legion, and in the Northampton Area Men's Retired Club. The students of NAJSHS salute you, Mr. Raubenhold, for your beneficial work in our community.

NORMAN A. LAUB, B.S., M.A.

Principal

Mr. Laub, our principal, capably oversees our education during high school. He efficiently maps our curriculum and extracurricular activities, and is constantly trying to better our already good school system. His great interest in the students can easily be seen by his attention to any student problem, although it may keep him busy long after school hours. We wish him a well-deserved rest during his sabbatical leave but look forward to his return.

ALFRED LAUBACH, Ph.B., M.A.

Assistant to the Principal

Our new assistant principal, Mr. Laubach, now has administrative duties added to his already busy schedule of supplying films for class use, teaching, advising the Senior Student Council, and giving the morning announcements, all of which he manages ably. He is well known by his hearty laugh and his friendliness toward all the students, and by his willingness to listen and advise them on any problems they may have.

ALBERT M. LERCH, B.S., M.Ed.

Acting Principal

Finding jobs for students, interviewing them, getting them into college, and giving them exams are among the many duties handled by "Doc Lerch." His aid is sought by students, business leaders, and all the community. His friendliness and helpfulness have made him a friend to all who know him.

MRS. OBRECHT

Our girls' counselor, Mrs. Obrecht, manages to arrange an interview with each girl who enters high school. Friendly and helpful, she answers all questions, reassuring each girl or advising her to "brush up" in certain subjects, whatever the case may be. Mrs. Obrecht remains a friend to the girls throughout their senior high school years.

Typing and bookkeeping occupy the daily tasks of our secretaries.

MR. ERDOSY

Our ambitious faculty manager, with the assistance of the Athletic Council, directs the yearly sports program. This group of men formulates the policy on athletics in general for the school. The setting up of schedules and running of sports events is the main function of Mr. Alec Erdosy.

Mrs. Obracht is moving into our new building.

CAFETERIA PERSONNEL

Our able corps of women constituting our cafeteria staff has proven that too many cooks do NOT spoil the broth. They are directed by our resourceful and experienced dietician, Mrs. Mary Zirinsky, who successfully meets the challenge of planning a variety of balanced meals to suit the tastes of all. These ladies have made the lunch period a pleasant "breather" in the day's activities when we can catch up on the latest news with our classmates and obtain enough energy to survive the day.

Mrs. Zirinsky plans our next meal.

Here are the hearty eaters of Northampton High.

Cleaning is a never-ending Job for Miss Weider and Miss Lerch.

MAINTENANCE STAFF

To keep our new school looking and working like new is the aim of our maintenance personnel. The janitors make certain that the building is heated comfortably, that the grounds are well-kept, and that everything is in excellent condition. The housekeepers arrive in the evening to freshen up the classrooms by washing blackboards, cleaning floors, and dusting furniture. The devotedness of this fine group of people deserves our utmost and heart-felt thanks.

MEDICAL STAFF

Dr. George Hrisko

Dr. Charles Moritz

Dr. Sidney Parmet

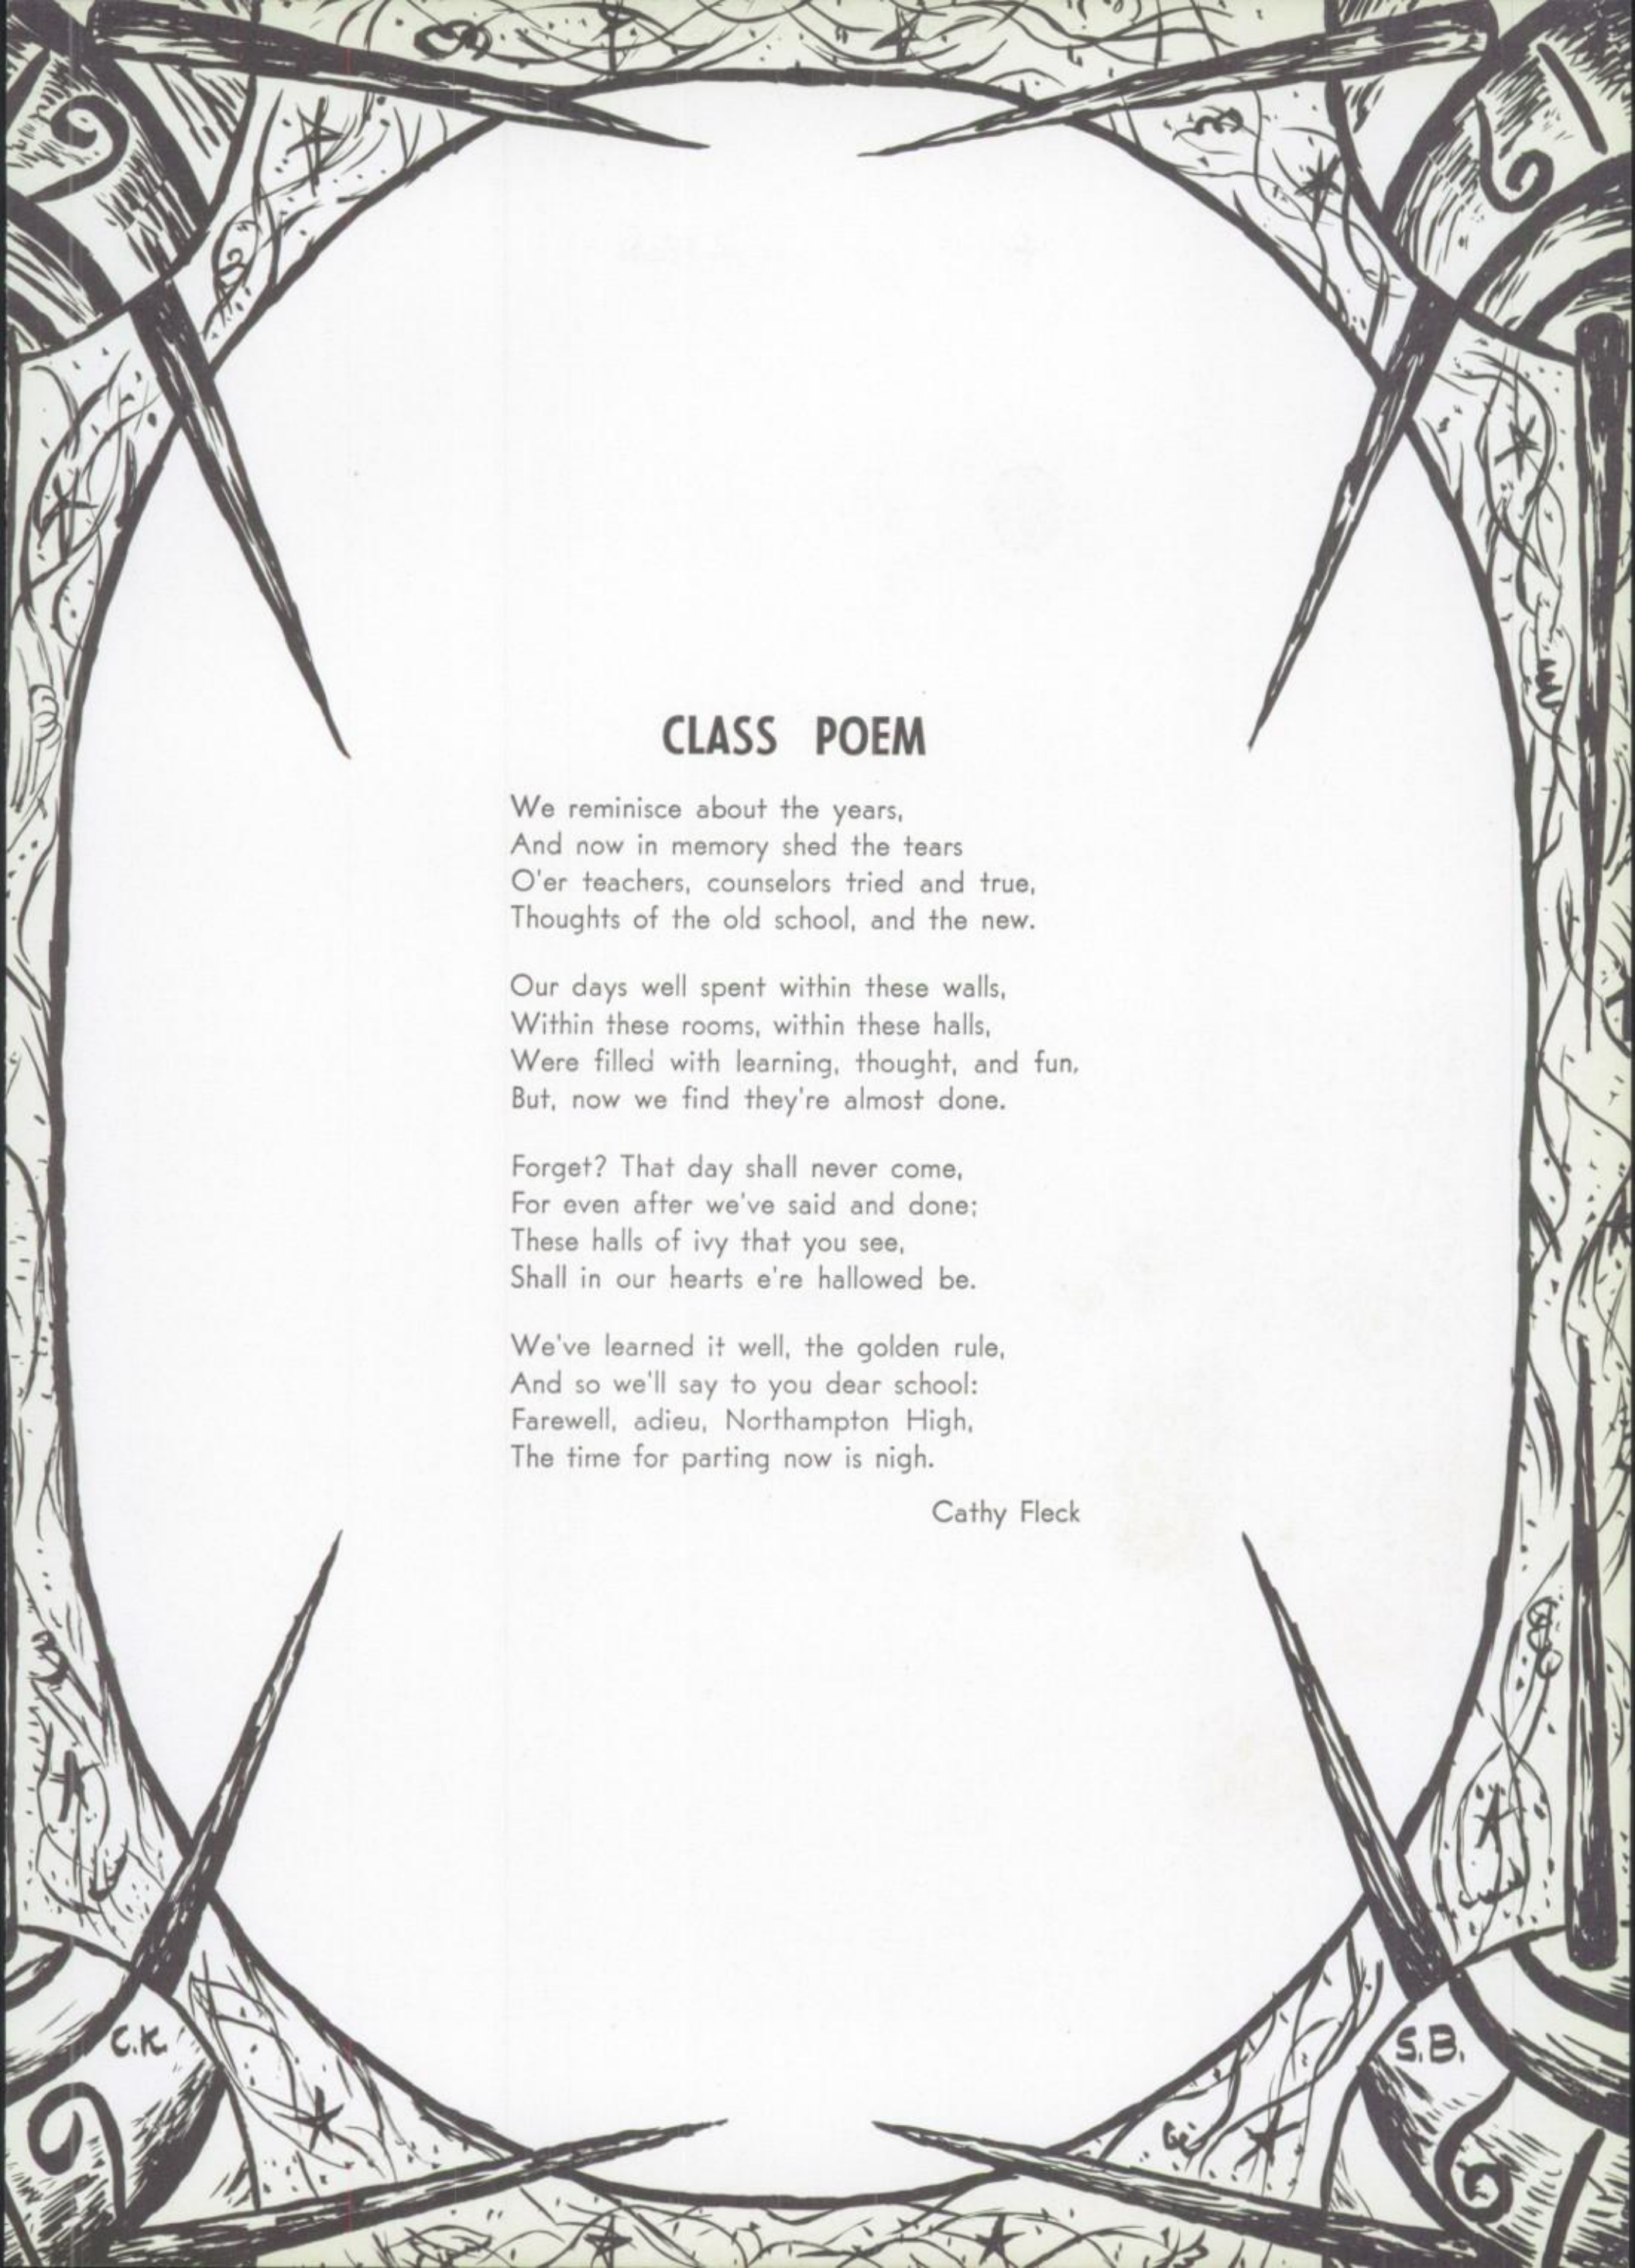

Dr. Charles Sieger

Caring for a student's physical and dental health is the chief duty of our school physicians, nurses, and dentists. Their aid is constantly sought by students interested in athletics or employment, as well as those involved in minor accidents. Yearly eye and ear examinations are given to check on our most indispensable senses. Our dentists examine us for cavities and oral maladjustments. Without the assistance of these fine people, our school would be extremely handicapped. Their priceless aid is needed by all. We thank you, the Medical Staff, for the fine work you have performed for us.

Miss Stettler and Dr. Miller comprise our Medical Staff.

CLASS POEM

We reminisce about the years,
And now in memory shed the tears
O'er teachers, counselors tried and true,
Thoughts of the old school, and the new.

Our days well spent within these walls,
Within these rooms, within these halls,
Were filled with learning, thought, and fun,
But, now we find they're almost done.

Forget? That day shall never come,
For even after we've said and done;
These halls of ivy that you see,
Shall in our hearts e're hallowed be.

We've learned it well, the golden rule,
And so we'll say to you dear school:
Farewell, adieu, Northampton High,
The time for parting now is nigh.

The time has come, Nor-thamp-ton High, For us to say good-bye, We'll We dream of hap-py days a-head, Our des-tin-ies un-known. Our oft re-mem-ber days and friends And nev-er break the ties — You hopes, our fears and, our de-sires, We know will soon be shown, And tea-chers were the hel-ping hands, Our strength to lean up-on. you now we bid our last fare-well To this, our moth-er school. And tried to show us all the ways To mold our thoughts toward one.

forge a-head to great-er things Taught by the Gold-en Rule.

OUR JUNIOR YEAR

Our junior year was a lustrous one, filled with studies, activities, and fun.

The return to our new school was really a thrill,
it brought with it new standards, procedures,
and skill.

The try-outs we gave, using poetry or verse, ended up with awards the day of the first.

Tomorrow we face what we've waited for so long,
to lead, to guide the masses, the throng,

To collect all our memories and friends that we won,
to remember our dear Alma Mater as sung.

Maybe I should try the next size.

I hope we have another fire drill.

Fun and frolic add up to one happy Christmas party.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The Sophomore Class of Sixty-one
Has had its trials and its fun;
In getting wisdom day by day,
Through constant hours of work, not play.

That long-sought goal will come at last,
Before too many years are past;
We know that this is now the test,
To see who will come out the best.

Homework is for our good, they say,
We do it now and collect our pay;
To pass the test, to make the grade,
To win the game or show we played.

School spirit is the thing that counts,
We know that with each year it mounts;
We'll keep it up in mind and soul,
Even after we've reached that long-sought goal.

SENIOR SUBJECTS

P. of D. is the subject that everyone fears,
And wonders whether his grades are in arrears.
Senior English, too, kept us on our toes,
How we ever passed it, no one knows.

Now Shorthand and Typing gave us the key
To get to sit on the boss' knee.
Appreciation classes broadened our knowledge;
Whether music or art, we'll use it in college.

Trig. and Geometry made our heads spin;
We knew in six weeks we just couldn't win.
Chemistry made us all eager seekers;
But to our dismay, we blew up the beakers!

Our subjects we've knocked, our teachers begrudged;
But we know that at last we will be judged.
We thank you, teachers, for what you did here,
To help us through our one and only Senior Year.

What could be more interesting?

SCIENCE

"This is how it works," says Mr. Reichart.

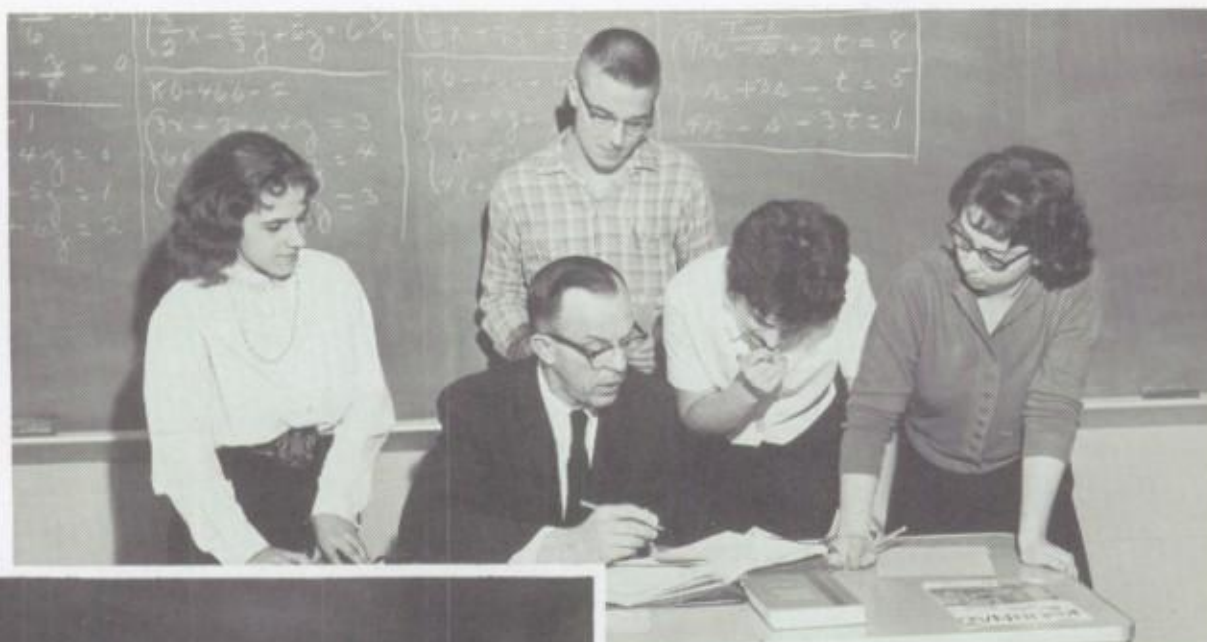

Physical science gives the student a general understanding of scientific phenomena. Earth science deals with the individual fields of geology, mineralogy, astronomy, map reading and interpretations, and meteorology. Physics is the study of light, heat, sound, electricity and magnetism. It deals with the laws and properties of matter. Chemistry deals with the composition of materials and the changes in composition which these materials undergo.

Future scientists trying another lab experiment.

Linda shows Mr. Wolf she knows the answer.

MATHEMATICS

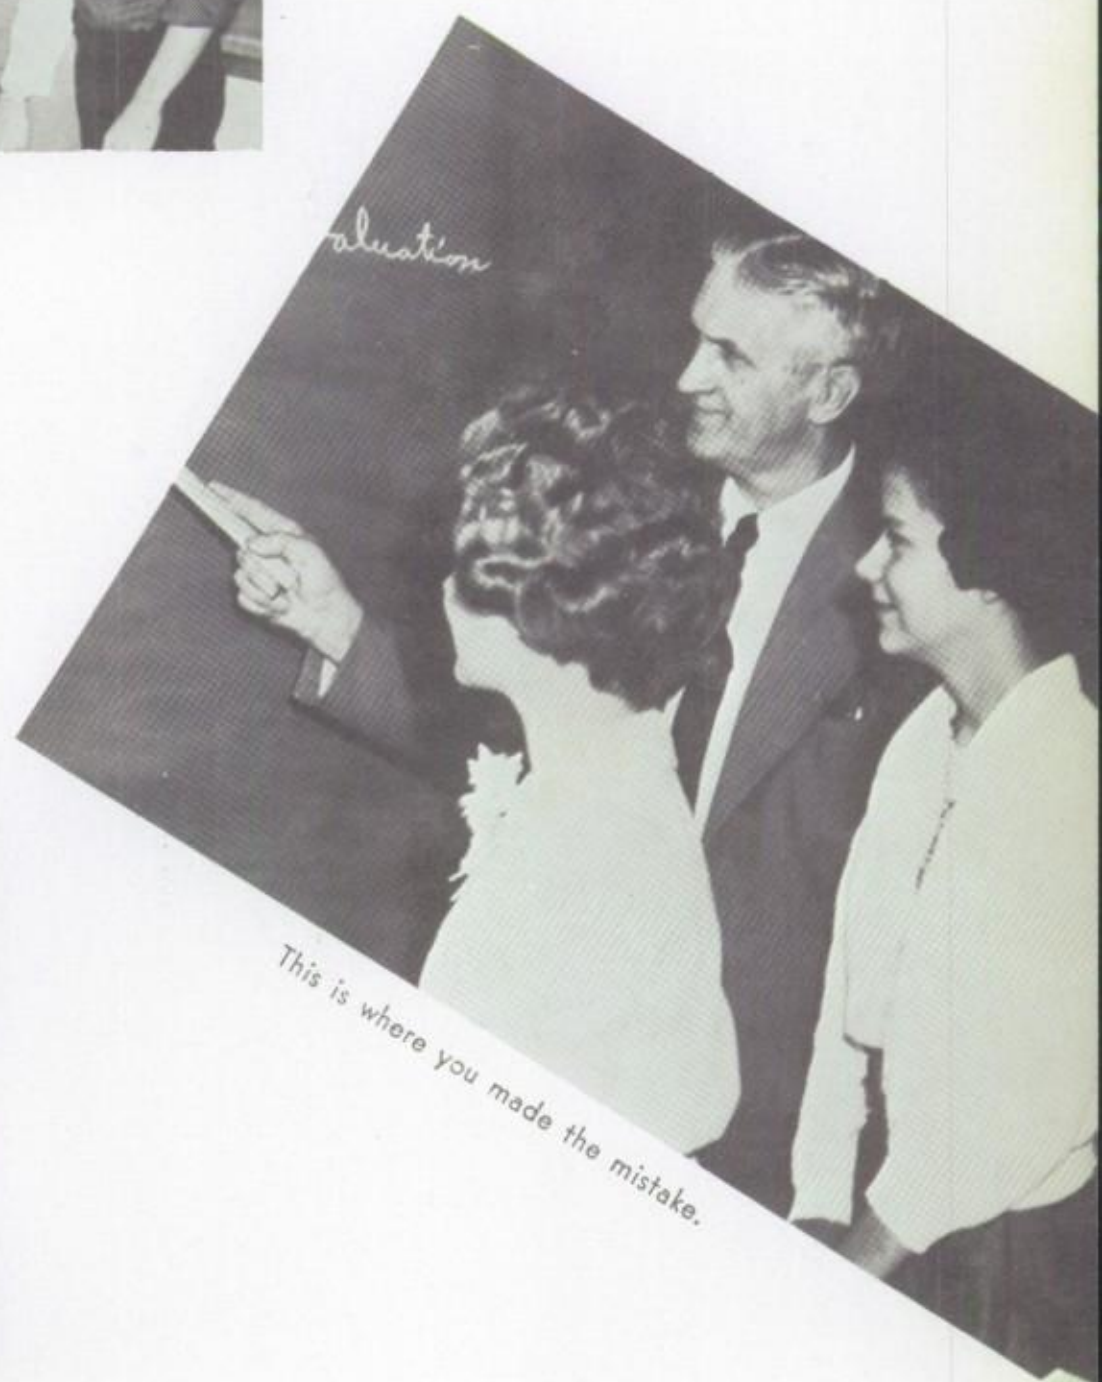

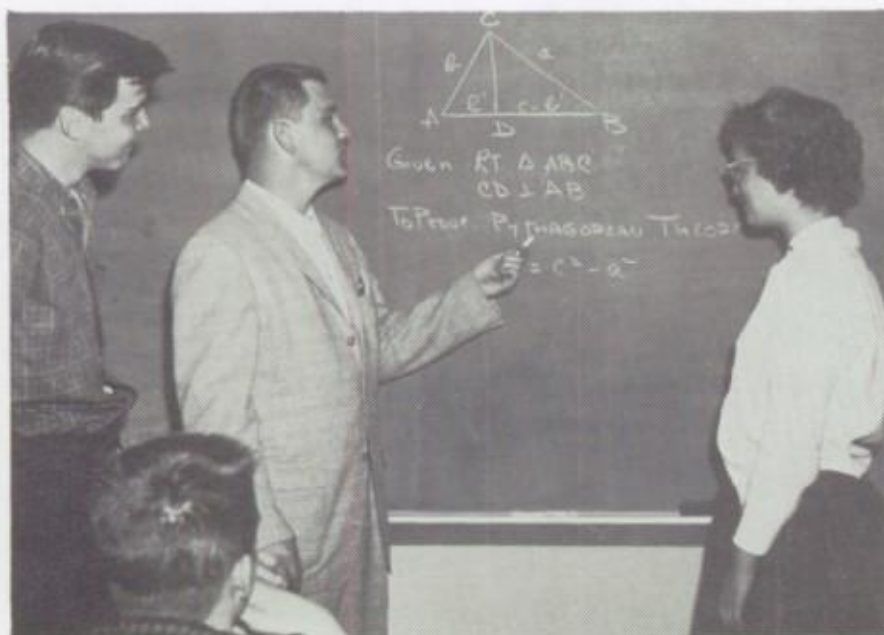

And that's the way you didn't do it.

Here's what the answer book says.

The math department offers a variety of subjects to industrial, commercial, and college bound students. Courses offered are: Algebra, Plane and Solid Geometry, a combination of Trigonometry, Analytic Geometry, and Calculus, and Business, Shop, and General Math.

Pythagorus had nothing on these Geometry students.

This is where you made the mistake.

Cigars and beer are typical of most Germans.

A small French city is viewed by the French class.

That tape doesn't sound like me.

LANGUAGES

An important asset to a predominantly Pennsylvania German region is German. Through films, reading, grammar, and speaking unser Dichter, Herr Gregory, fine deutsche Studenten.

Through Spanish, better communications can be had with Latin America as Señor Shoemaker states.

French is a must for those who travel abroad.

One of the oldest languages is Latin, which has provided many roots of the English language of today. To read and understand, to speak and express - - - these are all prerequisites to the understanding of our modern English language.

Miss Laubach shows a soldier's badge to her Latin class.

New books interest Mr. Gunkle's English students.

Anything to get out of class.

See, I told you it was in the book.

SECRETARIAL

Getting ready to take their place in today's Business world are our commercial students. They work diligently to become efficient typists and bookkeepers, and experts in shorthand and office machines.

Bookkeeping teaches students how to balance budgets, keep records, and perform other important office tasks. The course in office machines familiarizes the future secretaries with many types of office machines, from the typewriter to much more complicated ones. Shorthand is a language all its own with its own special hieroglyphics. Walking past a typing room, the rapid clicks of the typewriters assure us of the fine training available. Further proof of this is the excellent work done in preparing the mimeographed tests.

Rosalie, stop looking at her paper.

That's it girls, keep your eyes on the books.

Well, even teachers make mistakes.

"Now for another film."

SOCIAL STUDIES

Future homemakers do their best.

What a complicated world we live in.

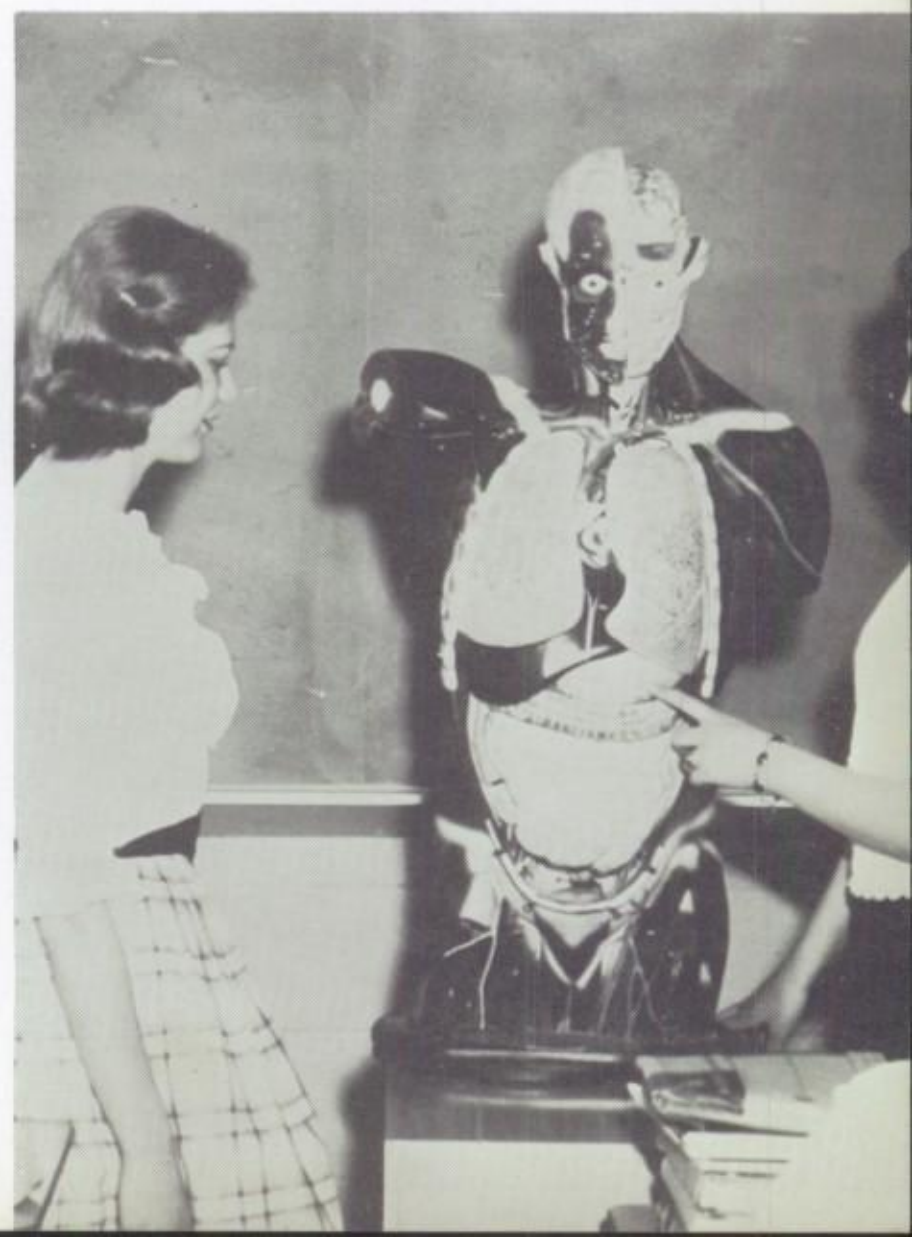

Easy does it, Jack.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND HEALTH

Mrs. Wilson and Mr. Erdosy, our phys ed and health instructors, have a varied assortment of equipment — gym apparatus, visual aids, and facilities — at their disposal. They have also organized a diversified program of girls' and boys' gym teams and clubs. In the health classes they teach modern hygiene and the science of the body processes.

Ilona and Rochelle agree beauty is only skin deep.

Come on Einstein Kalusky, what is it?

ARTS

Robert Kern, alias Michelangelo accepting criticism from Mr. Kleppinger.

1-2-3, begin Mary Ellen and Fred, says Mr. Becker.

Linda, Mary Ellen, and Robert developing their appreciation for art.

The modern art department features two large, new kilns, a pottery wheel, and many other accessories which when combined make it one of the finest in the area. A new stereo tape recorder and player, new pianos, sufficient practice facilities, and lockers all help make the well-planned music suite an area that presents an opportunity to students who wish to learn about music theory, appreciation, and cultivation of the fine arts.

ELECTIVES

Mrs. Santee developing a new technique with her ensemble.

John Schmidt striking while the iron is hot.

Through the electives the students are able to increase their search for knowledge. What would we do without our printshop? For more than a century, programs, schedules, report cards, and lunch tickets have been printed here. Under careful guidance students learned how to drive correctly and efficiently. After hours of practicing, future musicians emerged under the tutorship of Mr. Raymond Becker. From orthographic drawing, with dividers and compasses, future engineers and draftsmen will emerge.

"No spinning the tires, Dawn," says Mr. Wahl.

OUR SCHOOL YEAR

SEPTEMBER

Vacation is over, it's back to school
To learn all about the Golden Rule.

OCTOBER

Our six-weeks tests will soon roll round,
Time to study must be found.

NOVEMBER

Thanksgiving plans are in the air
Dr. Eichler says: "The weather's fair."

DECEMBER

Holly and mistletoe can be found,
While snow is falling on the ground.

JANUARY

Preparations for a play begin,
Try-outs, rehearsals, just hear the din.

FEBRUARY

First semester is o'er, the second is here;
And with it now graduation looms near.

MARCH

Students prepared their projects with care,
With March came the Science Fair.

APRIL

In April the yearbook is almost done,
Preparing it took much time, some fun.

MAY

Graduation plans are in the air,
The Washington trip is planned with care.

JUNE

The glorious day is finally here,
You think back and shed a tear.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Congress of the Senior High School is the Student Council. Under the able leadership of Sandra Barter and the guidance of Mr. Alfred Laubach, these legislators promote better study and dress habits, and aid the Red Cross. The Student Council is also the sponsor of the Christmas and Spring proms.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The basic principles of the National Honor Society are leadership, character, service, and scholarship. Its membership consists of the top fifteen per cent of the senior class. A tutoring service and sponsoring dances for the student body are only a few of the activities performed by this able-bodied group.

TRI-HI-Y

A long-established club is continuing its tradition in our new high school. This ever-popular school service club is the Tri-Hi-Y, under the able supervision of Miss Laubach and Mrs. Obrecht. Their objective is to seek, to find, and to share. Pure words, pure thoughts, and pure action is the slogan of the club members. Teen Talk discussions this year were marked with 4 weeks of inspirational talks by Mr. Elpern, East Central District Secretary for the TNCA, of which this club is an affiliate. Selling saving stamps to thrifty students is a main service project for this group.

The Mixed Chorus is the combined effort of the Girls' Chorus and the Boys' Chorus in a harmony of voices. Much time is spent in the planning and rehearsing of songs for our different programs. The Choruses are a selected group of students governed by rules set forth by an elected group of officers and a council. Adherence to these rules and attendance at rehearsals and programs can lead to the assurance of an activity letter at graduation. The Girls' Ensemble and Mixed Ensemble are composed of students selected from the Mixed Chorus.

One of the most active organizations in our school is the band. The many activities in which this group participates include the football games, parades, contests, plays, and the Spring Concert. No band is complete without its colorguards, and our band is no exception. These girls, proudly carrying the flags of our nation and school, lead the band in all marching performances.

MAJORETTES AND CHEERLEADERS

The twisting and twirling performances displayed by these high-stepping girls capture the hearts of all spectators. An exceptional show is always put on by our majorettes. The cheerleaders can be seen performing at every football and basketball game. It is through their efforts and leadership that the student body gets an extra boost in fighting spirit and desire to cheer much louder and longer.

SYNOPSIS

When Dick, Patricia, and Dorothy Maxwell find themselves "in charge" of their home during the absence of their mother, Pat persuades her brother and sister to rent homes to "Tourists" — thereby easing the family's supposed need for funds. Mamie Beggs, the maid and cook, refuses to become involved, but when the house is full of an assortment of would-be tenants, Mamie involves everyone by suddenly developing a case of measles which quarantines the entire household. Mamie is sure the mysterious Albert Wilson, his wife, and glamorous daughter Annabelle are criminals and backs up her suspicions with a shotgun. Meanwhile, Annabelle becomes the unwilling means of bringing romance to Dorothy and Michael Street, a handsome, young guest. In the midst of all the confusion, Willie Peabody, Pat's love-lorn slave and an innocent victim of the whole affair, is used as the guinea pig for Wilbur Street's amazing invention. The climax comes after a poisoned-coffee scare and a mad search through old newspapers. It is discovered that the Wilsons are not criminals but are merely seeking to escape fortunehunters who flocked to their door after Mr. Wilson won the Irish Sweepstakes. Everyone was immediately overjoyed to discover that Mamie's Measles was only a strawberry rash and just as quickly fell into despair again when she really got the measles.

Jeanette gets the measles.

JUNIOR SPEAKING CONTEST

First Place Winners: E. White, T. Ruch.
Second Place Winners: M. Kochenash, G. Mathern.

The thirty-fifth presentation of the annual Junior Speaking Contest on Wednesday, November 30, was unquestionably a success. This success was due mainly to the untiring efforts of the eight contestants and to their advisor, Mr. Kermitt Gregory, all of whom attended many exhausting rehearsals. Entertainment during intermissions was supplied by organ and band music and by various vocal and instrumental selections.

The following are the participants and their selections: Celest Osgood, "The Gift of the Magi"; Steven Hilberg, "The Fool Hath Said in His Heart"; Marjorie Kochenash, "Magic Night"; Titus Ruch, "What Kind of Government Ahead?"; Rose Ann Gill, "Lincoln Speaks at Gettysburg"; Gary Mathern, "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty"; Earlene White, "Gertrude the Governess"; and David Berg, "The Worth of One."

First and second place girls were, respectively, Earlene White and Marjorie Kochenash, and boys, Titus Ruch and Gary Mathern.

The Seniors take time out for a rest.

YOUNG LOVERS

They live every day to show each other
How much they care;
Their lives are filled with sunlight
And every day is fair.
No darkness can touch their gladness
They never more shall part,
The truest love in the world
Can be found within their hearts.

They're priceless those charming young lovers
As fresh and clean as the sky
So much of life they've never seen
Their love a precious tie.
They have faith and hope undying
A treasure from above
And surely we know they cannot fail
They're young and they're in love.

Jane Rodgers

Everyone came to the prom including teachers.

Vernon and Rae Marie dance to
"Remember The Night."

"No, You Can't!" "Yes, I Can!"

SPRING CONCERT

"Annie Get Your Gun."

"I'm An Indian Too."

Carol Kulp sings, "You Can't Get A Man With A Gun."

"The Girl That I Marry."

Paul Gieske proudly displays his project after many hours of hard work.

Melvin inspects a weighing device which adds to the sights of the science fair.

SCIENCE FAIR

Here our geniuses step forward and produce their very best. Everyone enjoys exhibits in chemistry, botany, cultivation, and the other branches of science. The best projects are selected to participate in the Lehigh Valley Science Fair. Today science opens a new field of studying space exploration. More and more students enter projects dealing with man's flight into space. The realization for the necessity of scientific knowledge is increasingly more important today in our fast moving world.

The Class of 1960 anxiously await the presentation of their diplomas.

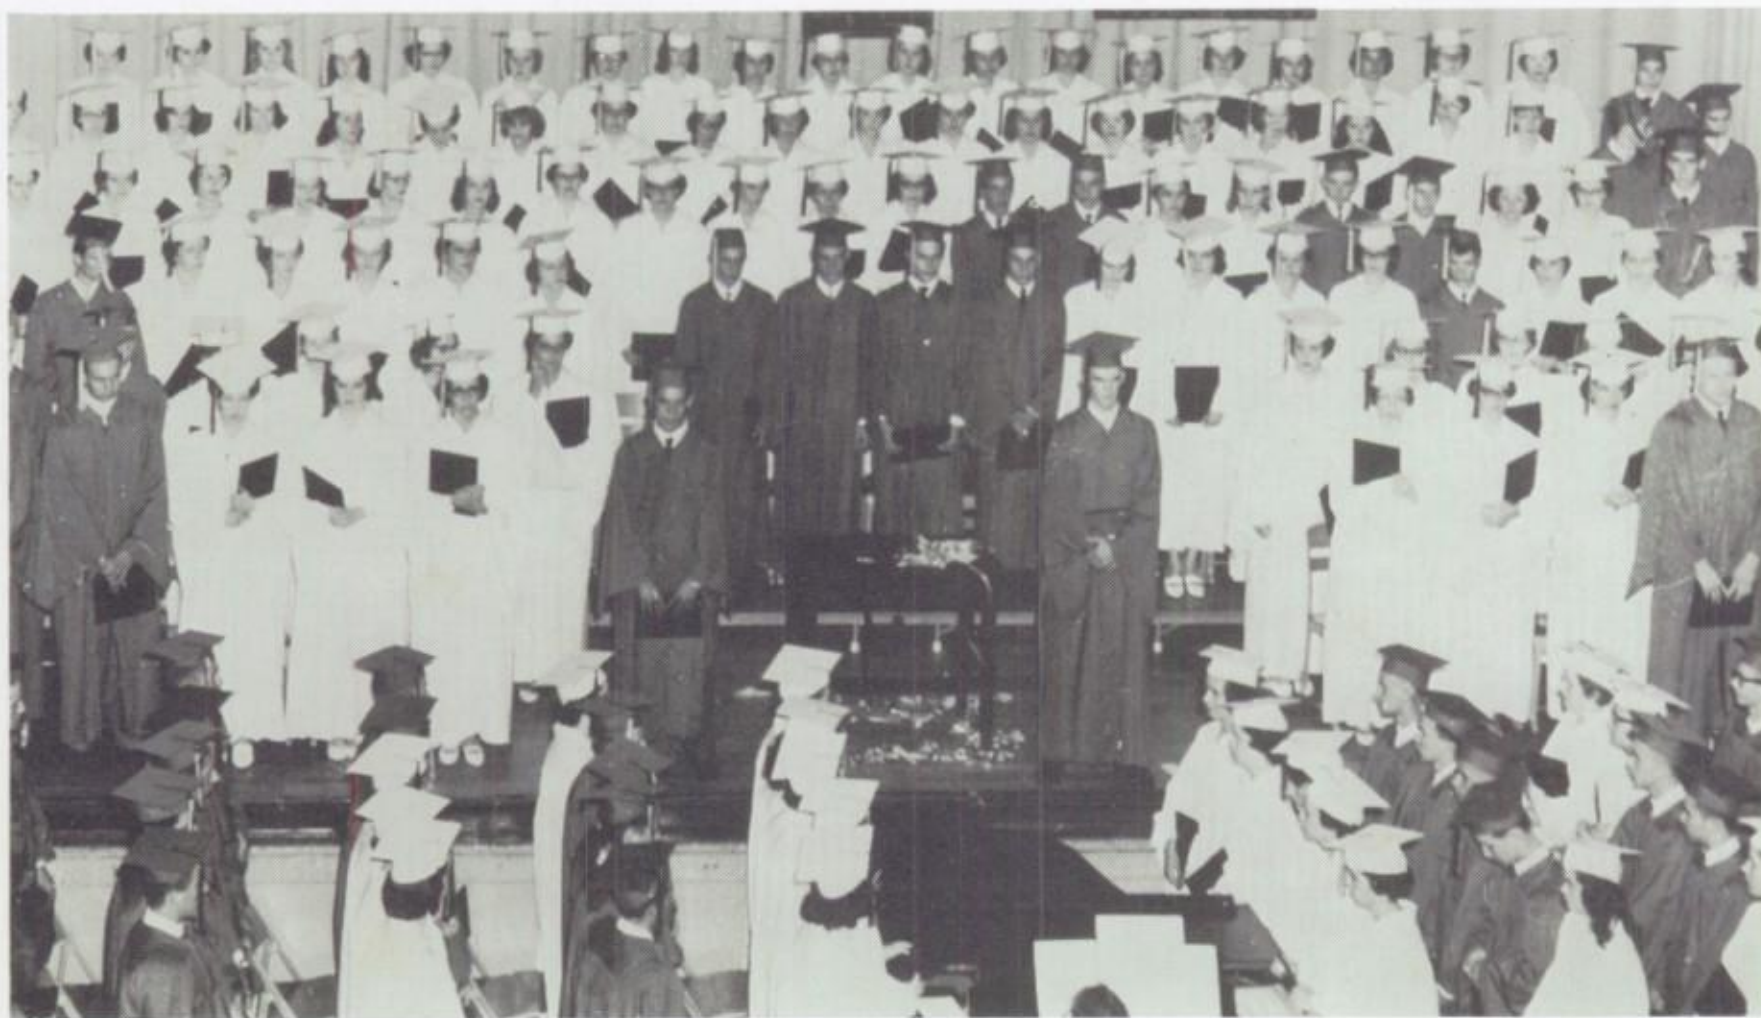

COMMENCEMENT

Now that our time is near, we suddenly realize that in a short time our class, the class of '61, will be taking its place in the complex, modern world as so many other classes have done before us. However, we will have the honor of being the first class to graduate from the new senior high school.

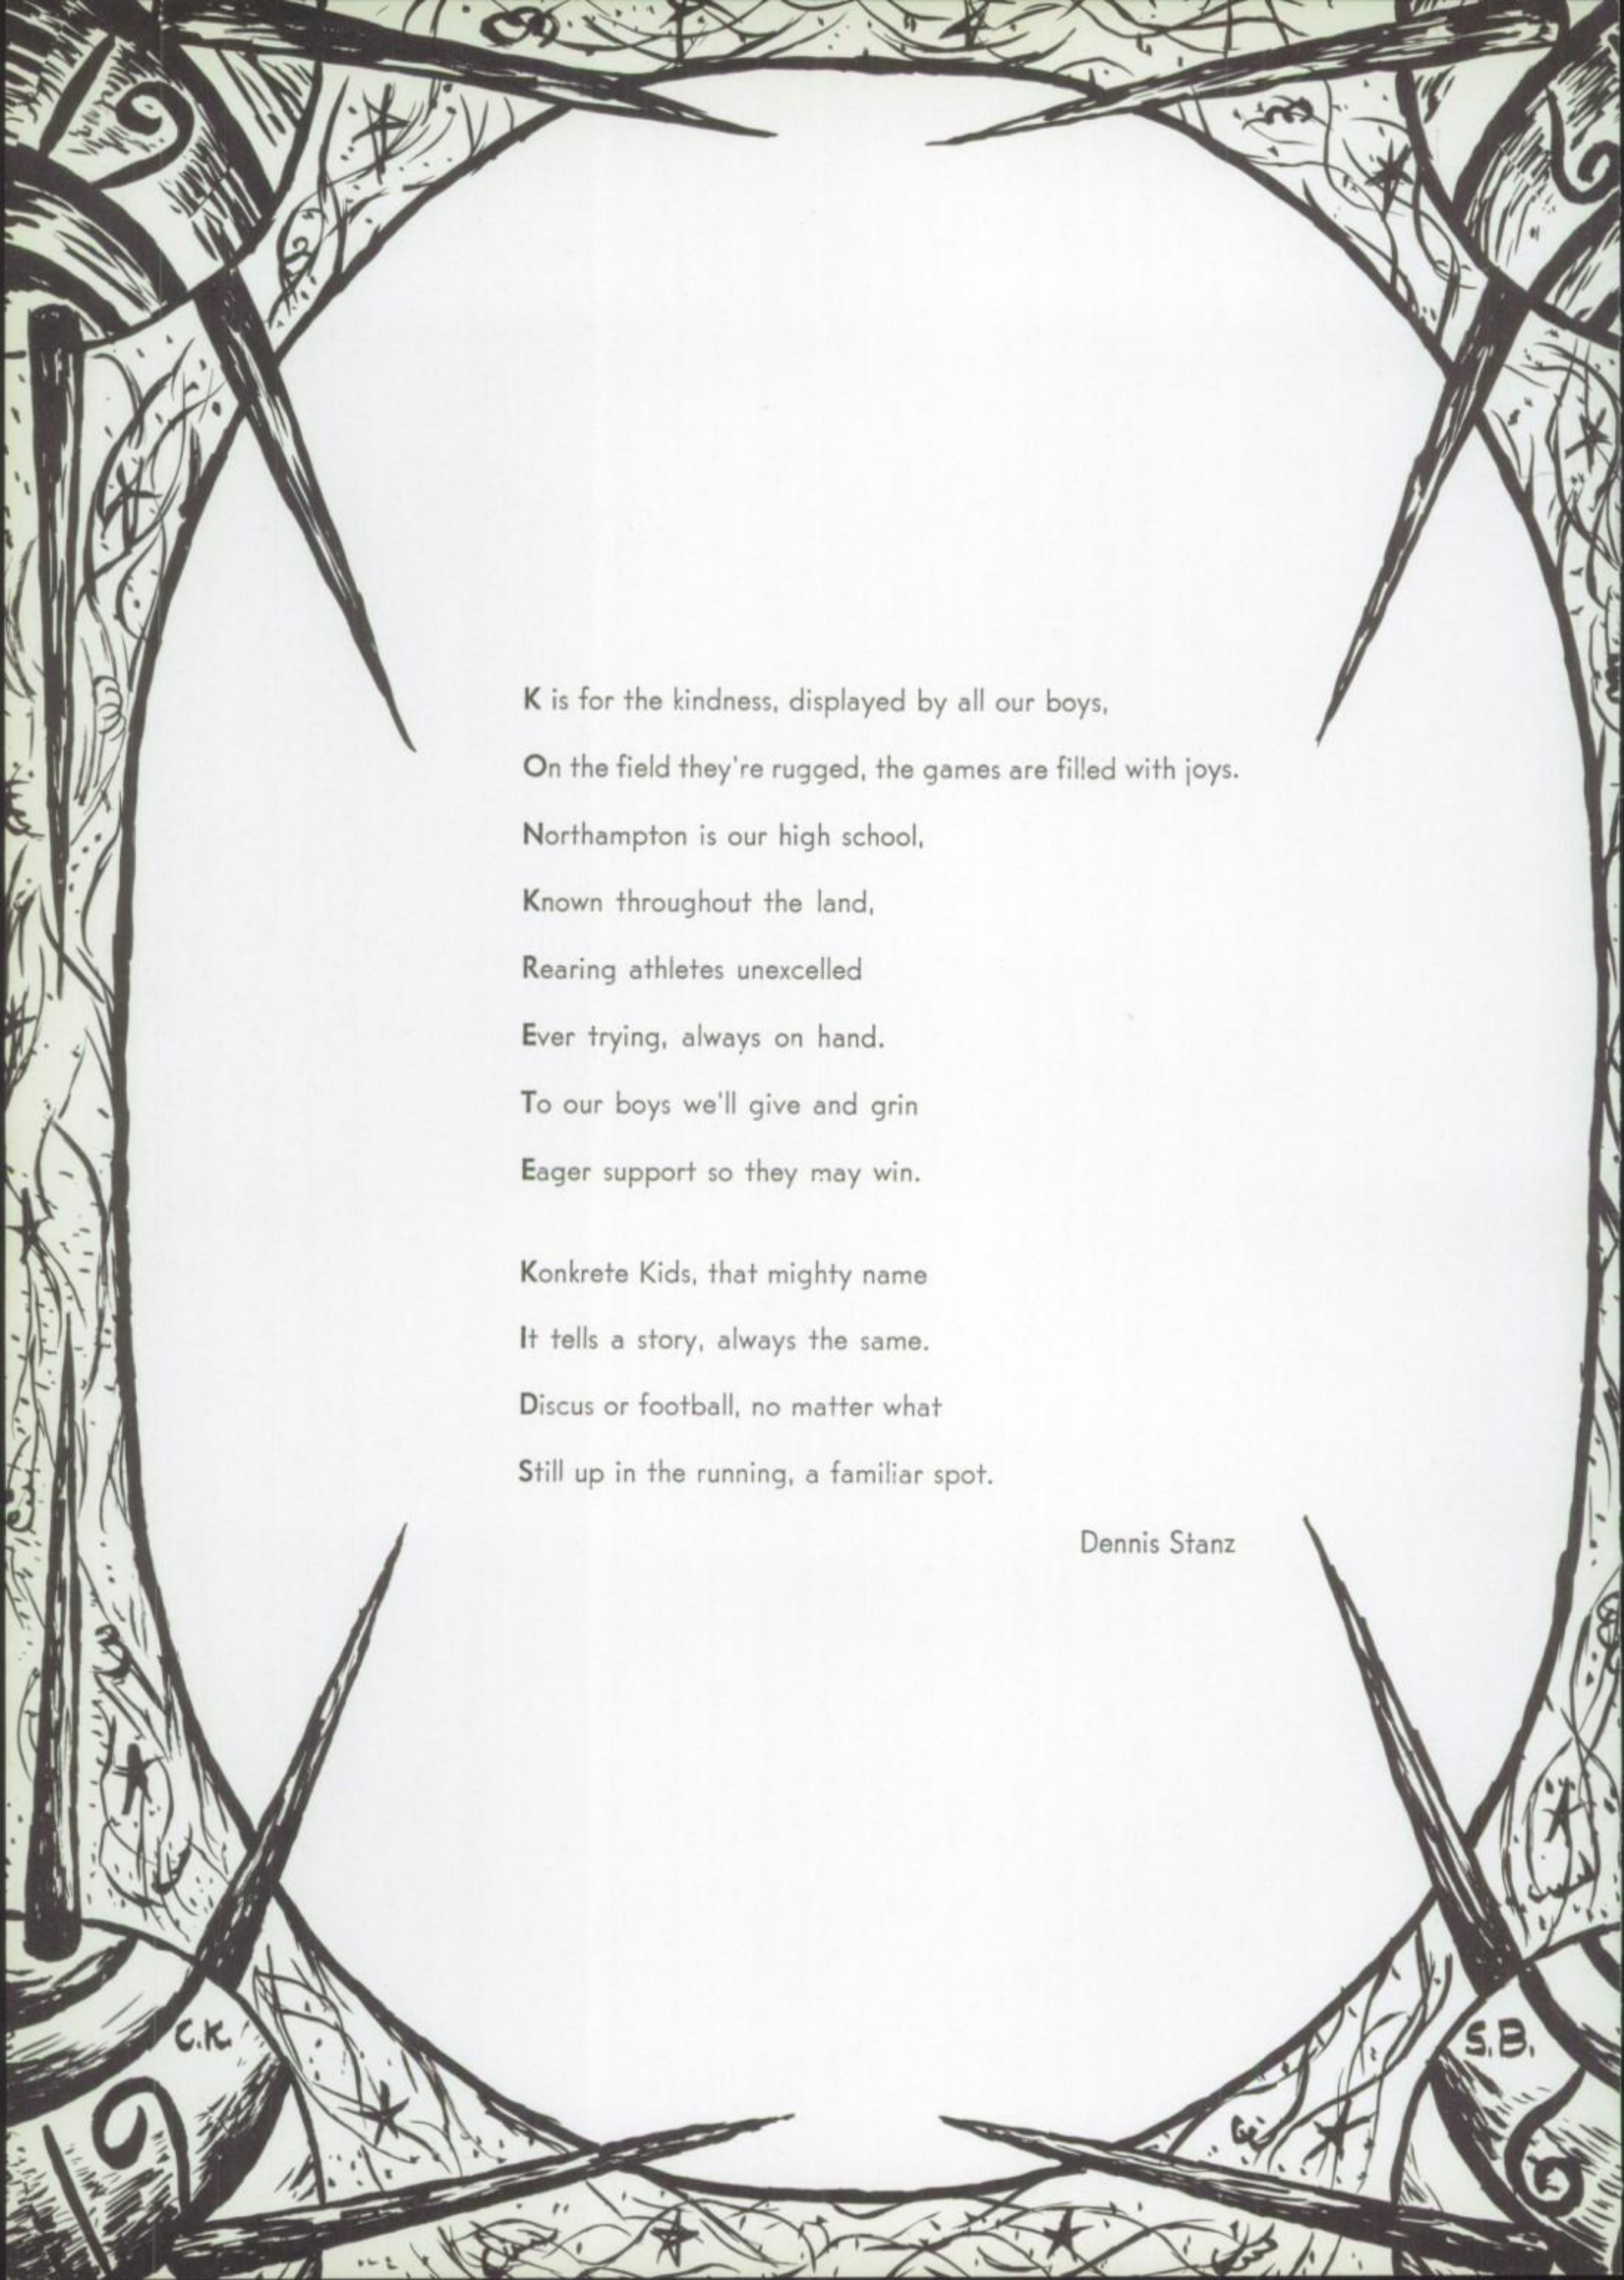

Commencement time is both a happy time and a sad time; we will be happy to have attained a great milestone in our lives and will be sad because we will be leaving the many friends which have made school such an enjoyable experience.

As we advance toward the stage to the strains of Pomp and Circumstance and sing the Alma Mater for the last time, we will be looking forward to a rewarding future full of many new opportunities.

The Class of 1960 poses for its last formal photograph.

K is for the kindness, displayed by all our boys,
On the field they're rugged, the games are filled with joys.
Northampton is our high school,
Known throughout the land,
Rearing athletes unexcelled
Ever trying, always on hand.
To our boys we'll give and grin
Eager support so they may win.

Konkrete Kids, that mighty name
It tells a story, always the same.
Discus or football, no matter what
Still up in the running, a familiar spot.

THE MOTTO OF KNOWLEDGE

Knowledge in youth is Wisdom in age;
Wisdom in youth yields Knowledge and Praise.
Knowledge is Power in many, many ways
And gain it we must in our high school days.

Knowledge we prize and rights we maintain,
Filling our needs by all we can gain.
Not to deprive our educational must,
For only our own, In God we Trust.

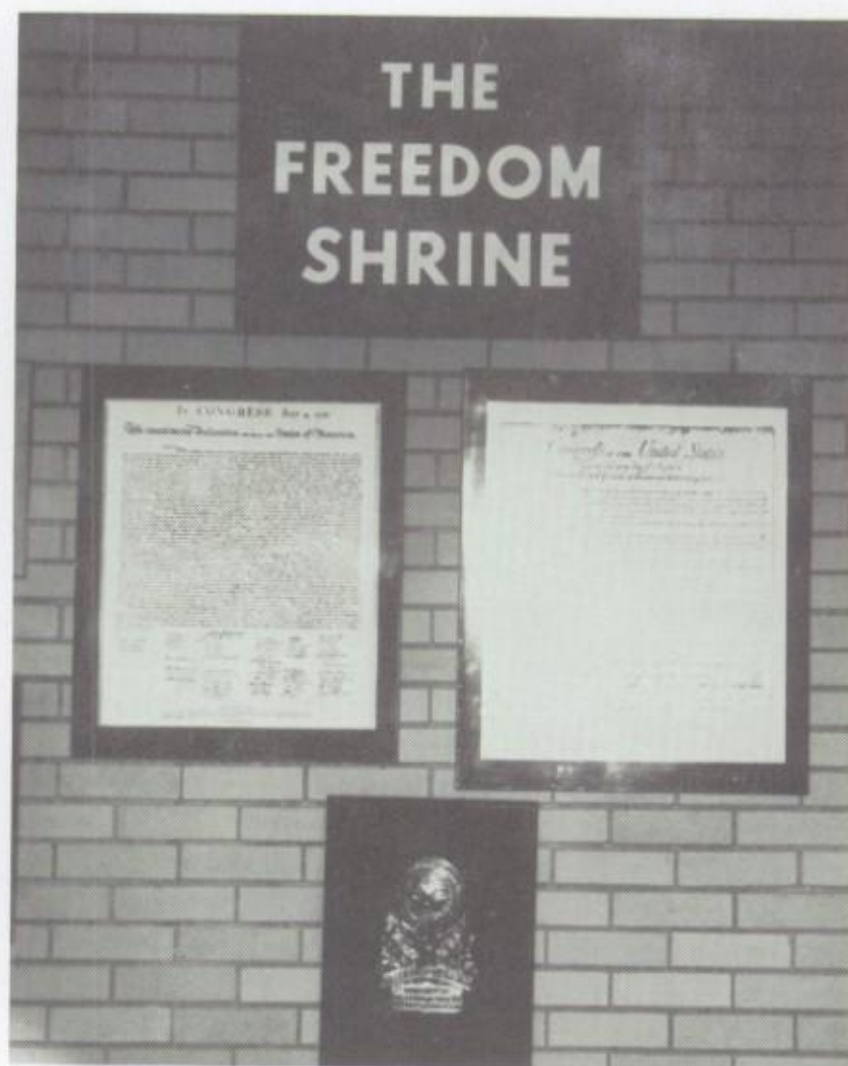

As you have seen and heard our side,
Your hearts should swell with eager pride.
Education for all, and not a mere guess,
We say that Education is the Way to Success.

Howard G. Raubenhold, Chairman of the Freedom Shrine of Northampton Exchange Club, and Harold Heberling present the Freedom Shrine plaque to Dr. George Eichler as a lasting memory of our struggles for freedom and independence. From the Continental Congress of 1775 through the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights, the Northwest Ordinance, the Monroe Doctrine, the Emancipation Proclamation, the Gettysburg Address, the German Instruments of Surrender, the Instrument of Surrender in the Pacific and the United Nations Charter we trace the history of our nation's continual fight for right and liberty.

DEDICATION

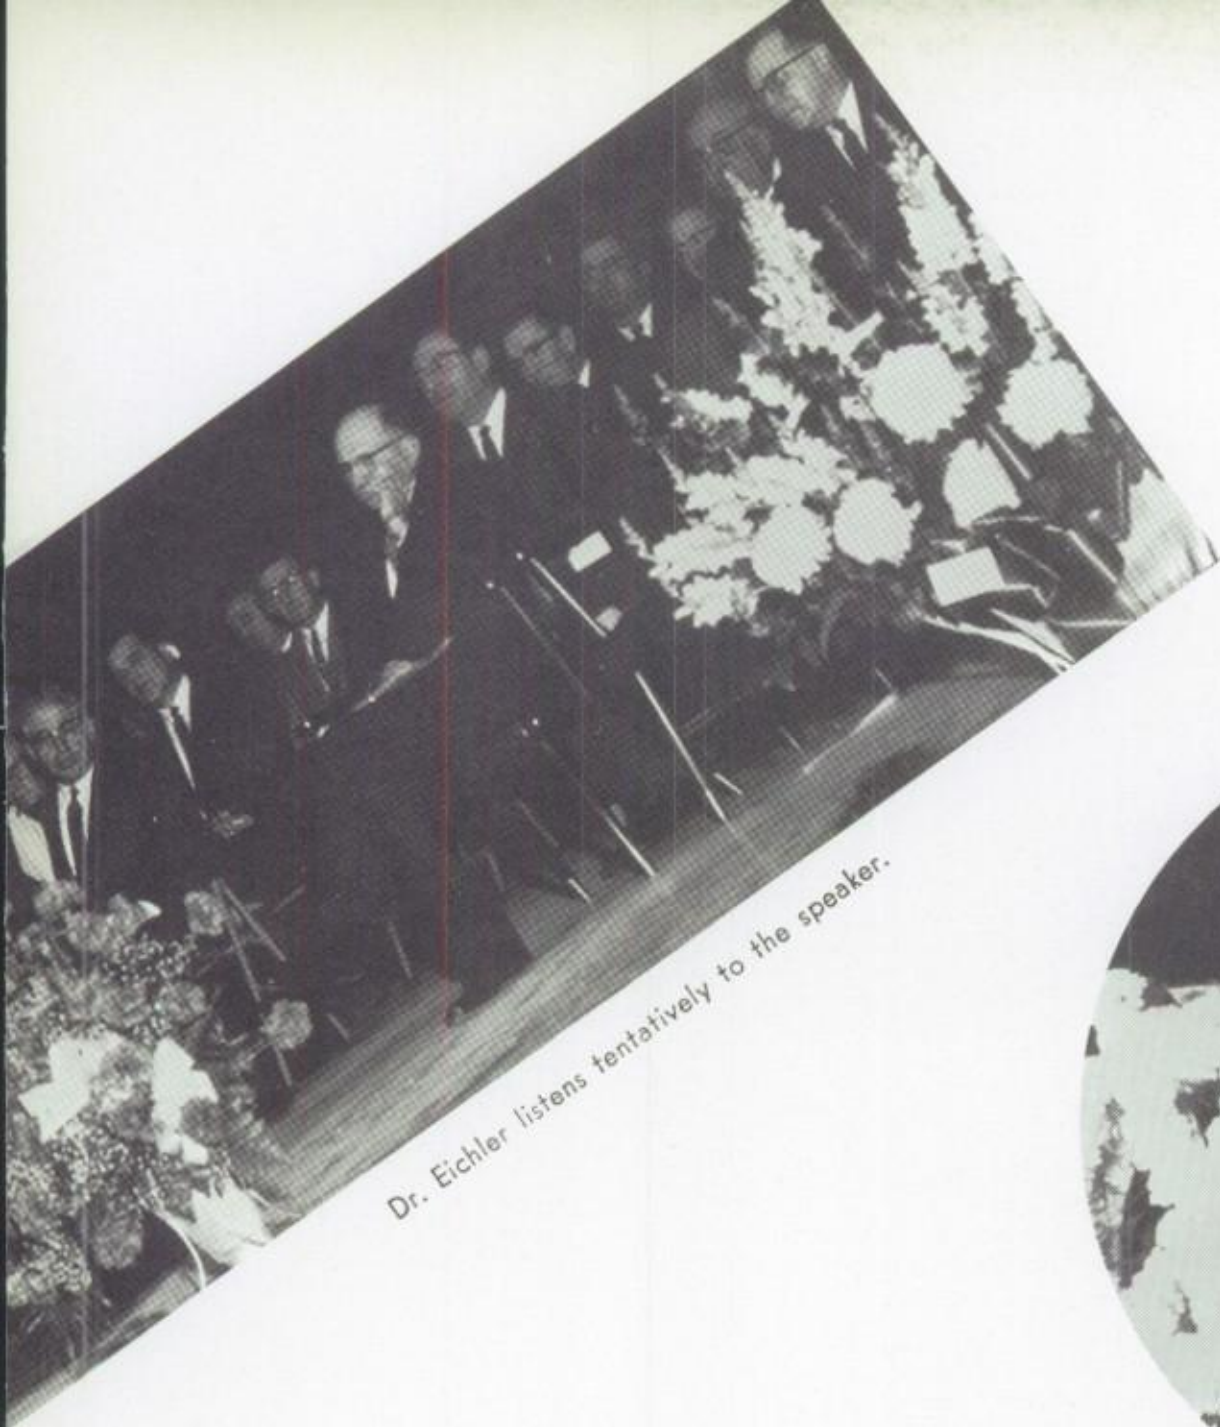

The crowd mills in the lobby.

The band was a great asset to the dedication.

The beautiful landscape by Murrillo.

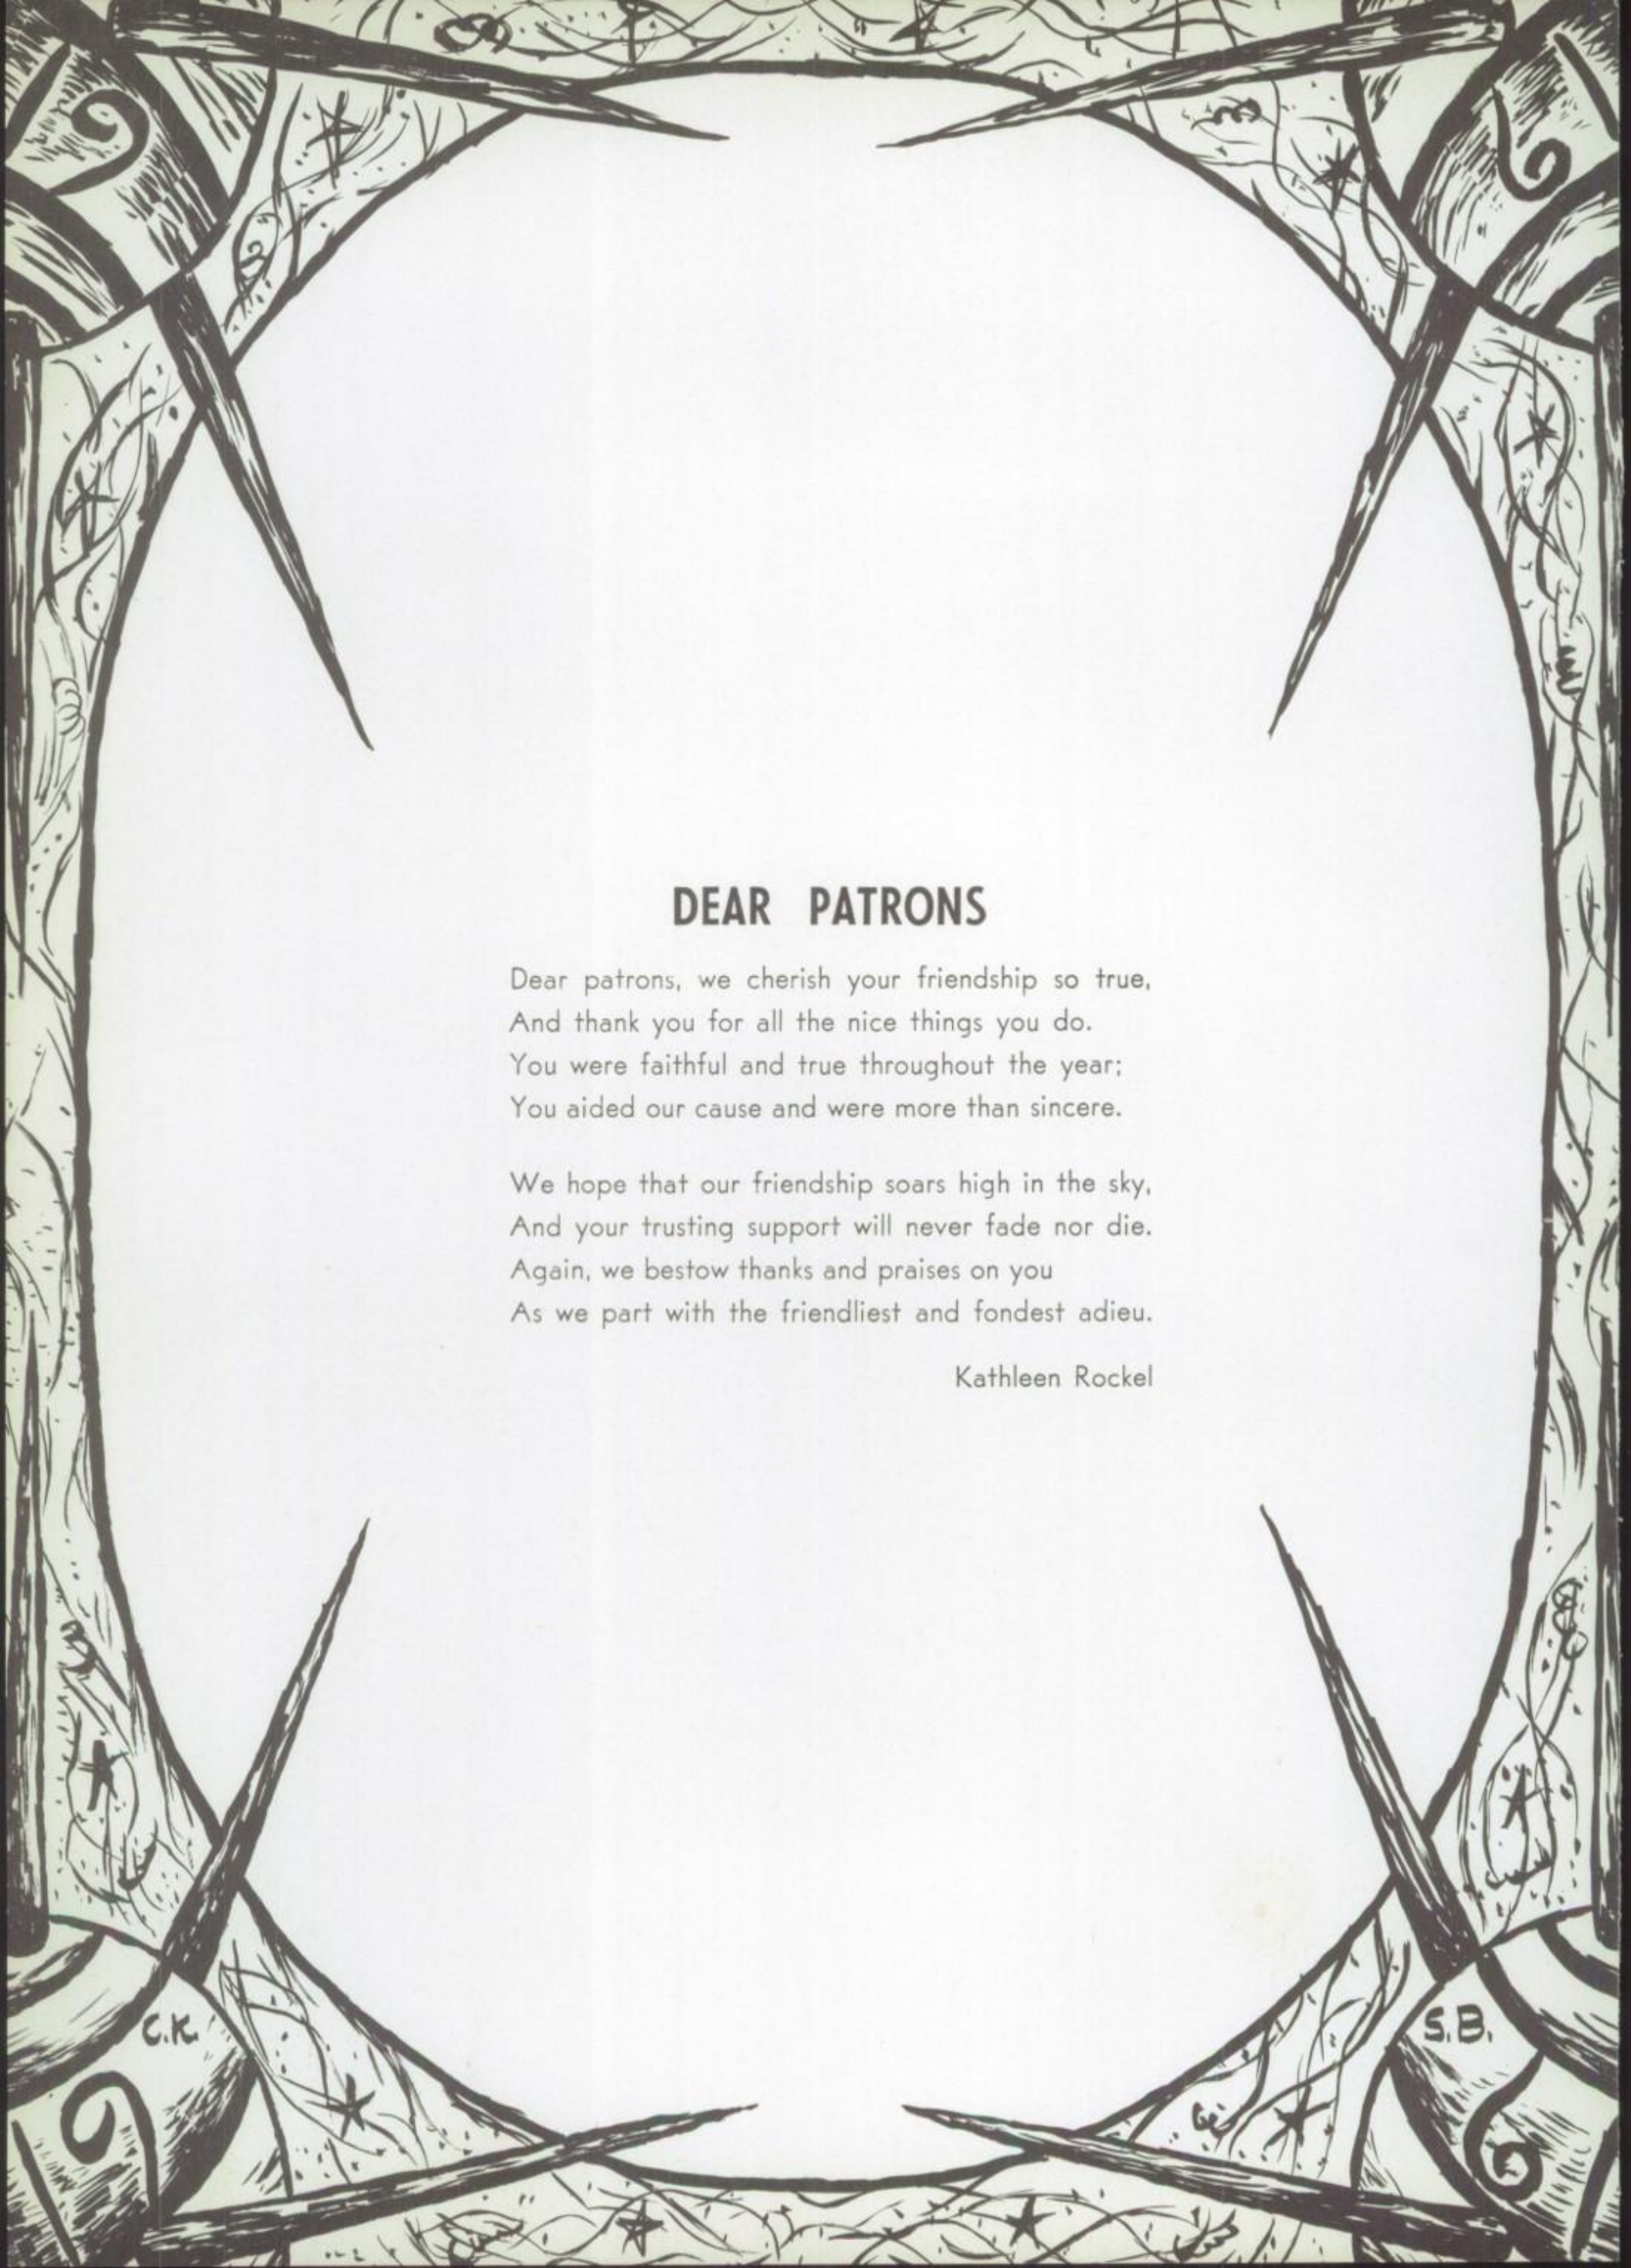

Dr. Eichler listens tentatively to the speaker.

Dr. Boehm speaks on Education in the space age.

Through these hallowed halls will pass many future generations.

DEAR PATRONS

Dear patrons, we cherish your friendship so true,
And thank you for all the nice things you do.
You were faithful and true throughout the year;
You aided our cause and were more than sincere.

We hope that our friendship soars high in the sky,
And your trusting support will never fade nor die.
Again, we bestow thanks and praises on you
As we part with the friendliest and fondest adieu.
